

UKRAINE

The Belarus Trap

CONTENTS

Baseline Scenario for 2011-2013:
Tough Choice

Our Assumptions

Activity: Weakening Industry Outlook

Prices: Falling

Interest Rates and Monetary Policy: Bank to Keep Tightening

The Public Sector: A Shaky 2012

External Accounts: On the Edge

Business Conditions: Improving

Risks: The Gas Issue and the Elections

Russia has at last backed Ukraine into a corner. Sandwiched between a probable currency shock and ambitions to win the parliamentary elections, the ruling group faces a difficult choice: securing a gas discount from Russia in exchange for rent-generating assets, or entering political bankruptcy by accepting a pre-election currency shock. Such a scenario closely resembles the one the Kremlin successfully tested on Belarus recently>>>